Gary Garrett
District Historian
Harris County Flood Control District

B.A., M.A., University of South Florida
M.A., Ph.D. Candidate, Rice University

As the HCFCD historian, I provide research and writing required by the National Environmental Policy Act and the Texas Historical Commission. I worked as an adjunct professor at the University of St. Thomas for the 2003-04 academic year. I was Assistant Professor of History at Chowan College in North Carolina for the 2004-05 academic year and was hired by HCFCD in September 2005. My dissertation, "The Origins of Flood Control in Harris County, Texas," will be completed this fall. My published essays and book reviews have focused on the environmental history of the United States South.
