

Name: George Guillen

Current Position: Executive Director of the Environmental Institute of Houston and Associate Professor of Biology and Environmental Science

Current Employer: University of Houston Clear Lake

Summary of Previous Experience:

2004 – Present University of Houston Clear Lake City

1993-1998 Adjunct faculty – UHCL

1991-1994 and 2005- Present Texas A&M University - Galveston, Texas Adjunct Faculty

2000-2004 U.S. Department of Interior - Fish and Wildlife Service Arcata, California Chief of the Fisheries and Contaminant Programs

1999-2000 U.S. Department of Interior - Minerals Management Service, New Orleans. Toxicology and Risk Assessment Unit Chief

1993-1998 Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission Surface Water Quality Program Manager Houston

1988-1993 Texas Water Commission. Surface Water Quality Program and District Manager. Manager of the TWC Houston District Office

1984-1988 Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Seabrook/Dickinson Environmental Contaminants Biologist

Education:

1996 University of Texas School of Public Health (Houston, TX). Ph.D.: Community Health Science (Environmental Science Option). December 1996

1983 Texas A&M University (College Station, TX). M.S.: Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences. December 1983

1979 Texas A&M University (Galveston, TX). B.S.: Marine Biology. December 1979

License/Registration:

American Fisheries Society (AFS) Certified Fisheries Scientist
Fellow of the American Institute of Fishery Research Biologists
Senior Ecologist Ecological Society of America

Awards:

Special Recognition – Western Division of the AFS 2004