

Robert R. Randolph

Short Bio

Robert R. Randolph is a Houston-based attorney who specializes in municipal finance, urban development and redevelopment, land use and environmental law. Until January of 2002, Bob was a partner in the law firm of Vinson & Elkins LLP. Many who know him would say that Bob has far from retired! He continues to make an impact on Houston's communities through state and local legislation and a personal commitment to improved redevelopment and revitalization. He is generally regarded as the definitive authority in the state of Texas in his area of expertise.

Bob serves on the boards of the Main Street Coalition, South Main Center Association and Scenic Houston. Bob was born in San Antonio and graduated from the University of Texas with an engineering degree in 1960 and a law degree in 1962.